Kalahari Resorts and Conventions Announces Intention to Open Resort in Spotsylvania County, Virginia

*Home of America's Largest Indoor Waterparks
Considers Virginia for its Fifth Property*

Wisconsin Dells, Wis. — March 23, 2022 — Kalahari Resorts and Conventions' owners Todd Nelson and his family are proud to announce their company's intention to build its newest property in Spotsylvania County, Virginia.

Home to America's largest indoor waterparks, Kalahari's Virginia location will feature up to 1,000 guest rooms, indoor and outdoor waterparks, signature dining experiences, a family entertainment center, a full-service spa and a convention center.

"We are incredibly excited to bring our unmatched resort experience to Virginia," said Todd Nelson, president and owner of Kalahari Resorts and Conventions. "Our goal is to provide families with an all-under-one-roof getaway unlike any other with something for everyone to enjoy."

The proposed location of the new Kalahari resort is situated on approximately 140 acres of land in Spotsylvania County in the Thornburg area.

"As a family-owned and operated entrepreneurial company, we are constantly evaluating opportunities to expand," Nelson continued. "We have been interested in Virginia as a home for a Kalahari resort and convention center for many years and are thrilled to continue working with various local, county and commonwealth officials to keep our plans moving forward."

This will be the fifth location for Kalahari Resorts and Conventions. The company most recently opened its Round Rock, Texas location in November 2020. Kalahari Resorts and Conventions can also be found in the Pocono Mountains, Pennsylvania (2015), Sandusky, Ohio (2005), and the Waterpark Capital of the World, Wisconsin Dells (2000), where their corporate headquarters are also located.
